INDIFFERENCE TOPIC OF AN ABLE SERMON

Dr. Paden Declares That Negligence Is the Cause of Untold Ruin.

"Religious Indifference" was the subject of an able sermon prenched at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning by the Rev. William M. Paden. Dr. Paden took for his text, Amos vi. 1: or Unto Them That Are at Rest in officials. In part, he said:

e religious perfi of this age is in-erce—not persecution, not insidelity, asy, evasive indifference. The worst, that can be said of the age is that do not care for, or have no interest thing that can be said of the age is that men do not care for, or have no interest in religious things.

The worning against this peril as voiced in our text is only one of a score we could quote from the Scriptures of the Old and New Testament. All Bible dealings with carelessness are in the same key. There is an unusual sternness in the tone of the Scriptures towards in ellipse to the control of the scriptures of the agency of the difference. Christ was the incarnation of this divine seriousness, and Christianity is a sham without His spirit. God's love is love in carbest and His law is aw inaced. Woe unto them that take their case neglecting God's love or law. I need hardly romind you of the perils of negligence, its danger flags are though at every turn of your His. Turn which way you will you may read the warning, beware of neglect. Neglect is the most insidious and persistent of all destroyers. You need not sew your garden with weeds—weeds will thrive without your siving the matter an anxious thought. You need not go to the trouble of knocking your house to pieces; hand it over to neglect and men will take your business from you without your asking to one and take away your would ask men to come and take away your wish as when to come and take away your woll ask men to come and take away your woll ask men to come and take away your woll ask men to come and take away your woll ask men to come and take away your woll take your business from you without your asking them, and almost before you need not worny yourself sick over

Salt Lake City, March I. 1995.

Hon. C. Y. Russell, Utah House of Representatives: Dear Sir:—Among other representatives of the people in the Utah Legislature. I desire from this office to lighly commend your work during this session, in the many landable and useful measures introduced and advocated by you, that affect and were directed for the well-boing of the masses of the state. House bill No. 229, concerning silen and contract labor, is to be espelaily commended as being a measure to bring into the state a higher and respected class of citizens who will do more given work per day, better work, and who will not only make permanent tomes here, but will spend all their earnngs within the state with entablished musiness interests here, and this certainly unnot be credited to, or said of, any lifen class heretofore coming to Utah, who depreciate worthy and good citizendup, and who do their part toward rearding business and home growth by ending thousands of dollars to impovershed relatives and friends in foreign ands. Thanking you, and assuring you of the undoubted appreciation of organized und unorganized labor in this state, I am, cours sincerely. AUSTIN DAVIS.

Secretary-Treasurer.

USE OF THE RECALL AS CHASTISEMENT

the mayor and his police commissioners for making inspections of the districtions of which is prenounced an orgy. The grand jury report experited the mayor and his officials of graft, but warned them illut a reopening of the district would merit severe treatment.

But the antagonists of the mayor had not been lide and they procured an unofficial minerity report from six members of the grand jury lits total membership is minetoen) which declared that the political syndicate that controlled the restricted district was actually formed in the mayor's office. The minerity report was regarded as the expression of the defendants in the libel suits, who had sought by every means to precure the indictment of the officials. It is now their principal weapon in the recall fight.

But before the grand jury reported, the mayor had named Edward Kern to succeed Edwards on the board of public works. Knowing the attitude of the grand jurors, the antagonists of Harper declared that the appointment of a man who had voted for a gift of the franching of the bod of the Los Angeles declared that the appointment of a man who had voted for a gift of the franchise of the bed of the Los Angeles river from the city to the sea to an unknown applicant, disguised as the Western Pacific, was justification for the recall. The declaration was taken up by the Herald, a Democratic morning paper opposed to Harper, and the recall demanded. The Municipal league, a nonpartisan organization, and the City club, another of the same character, responded and fathered the recall. Invitations were sent out for a special meeting and a persentage of those invited responded. It was decided that the mayor must be recalled.

Candidate Is Named.

Another meeting was called (by exusive invitation) to name a caudi clusive invitation) to name a caudi-date. W. D. Stephens, the strongest personality in public life in Los Ange-les, was named, but declined. Then it became a Japhet's search for a father. At the last minute almost the recall set threw the choice into a committee of fifteen, which selected George Alex ander, just out as supervisor, as the only one who would take the nomina-

Now the people are asked to vote on this question: "Shall Mayor Harper be put out of office and Alexander put in!" That is what the recall means. It is the club over public officials to chastise them for official dereliction. It may be used whenever 25 per cent of the voters at the last municipal elec-of the voters at the last nunicipal election petition for its exercise.

This is how that provision worked here: The last nunicipal election was in 1906, and 25 per cent of its vote is 7487; but there are now 65,000 registered voters in the city, so that the actual per cent of the total vote required is only 12 per cent. The petition was obtained in two weeks and insured the election. There are only two candidates, the Socialist candidate having been illegally nominated and excluded from the ballot.

But the real question before the people is whether the difference in opinion as to a public official's nets is sufficient cause for recall. All through his administration Harper has been the point of attack by his political adversaries. His every act has met accusation to the recall was never point of attack by his political adversaries. His every net has met accusation as to motive. The recall was never heard of until Woolwine started his anti-vice crusade and the liberals threatened to recall his superior, City Attorney Hewitt. This was throttled by the mayor, whom the liberals support. Then the libel suits were begun and the project to recall Harper followed, based on the charge that his appointment of Kern was part of a scheme to loot the aqueduct funds.

But the recallists made no attempt to recall the city council, whose members voted unanimously to confirm Kern's appointment. Without such confirmation, and the council has several nonpartisan members, the appointment bers voted unanimously to confirm Kern's appointment. Without such confirmation, and the council has several nonpartisan members, the appointment could never have been made. The council really controls all the mayor's appointments, and, while responsibility may originate with him, it must be assumed in the end by the connecil. But no recall of any of its members has ever been suggested.

When the recall was first used in the Sixth ward it was because Councilman Davenport had offended the labor interests by his vote in giving the city printing to the Times at a price higher (CHARCER) with a control of the council council control of the council cou

THE BREW—

The recall, as a principle, is on trial.

The derelictions of Harper are not the paramount issue. The voters are to passe on the value of the recall, per see and there is a business men sor ganization, largely Republican and anti-Harper, that is in existence solely to defeat the movement as a principle.

Harper's candidacy is a mere incident to them, and their support of him is not because they believe he did everything right, but because they believe his errors, if such the were, were of judgment, and that a mayor should have the right to appoint whom he pleases to office and be answerable for them.

LOS ANGELES Cal. Feb. 28.—Mrs. Catherine Nelson, aged 62, of Spring Valley, Wis., was killed, and her husband, Martin Nelson, aged 64, was aeriously hurt, if not fatally injured, tonight by being struck by an electric train on the Pacific Electric railroad at Elmont, nar this city. With the recall oligarchy, it is a theory that he who would stay in office must name the men "we" want and what "we" ask. If they succeed in the recall, how many petty oligarchies will form and where will a public official be "at?"

CUTE LITTLE CHINESE WHO SING SONGS

And each recall election will cost the taxpayers $15,000. And this, too, in the face of the fact that if Harper were put out and Alexander put in no change could be effected, because the council is bestile to the recall and would confirm no removal—and there are no new appointments to make. And all this, too, in the face of that fact that Mayor Harper has but nine months to serve after the election.

French Mystic Predicted the Great Disaster at Messina

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, commander of the Atlantic battleship fleet, and the flag officers and captains who zerved under him in the memorable world-round cruise, were guests of honor tonight at an elaborate dinner given by the Metropolitan club. About 190 covers were laid, and those attending included high officers of the army and mavy, senators and representatives and members of the diplomatic corps. The club's time honored toast, "The President," was drunk standing. President Roesevelt was unable to be present.

To the teast, "Our Guests," Admiral Sperry delivered an eminently appropriate speech. In the course of his remarks he made it plain that he was deeply made to the course and efficiency of the officers under his command on the voyage.

SEA TRAGEDY MYSTERY APPARENTLY SOLVED

ALGIERS, Feb. 28.—The mystery of the identity of the sailing vessel which was rammed by the Belgian steamer Austrinduring a storm on February 12, hear Alberan Island, in the Mediterransan, appears now to be solved. Both vessels foundered as a result of the collision, but ten members of the crew of the Austria, who had put off in a small beat were picked up by the German steamer Liberta, and brought to Algiera. Until today ne word of the fate of the sailing vessel had been received.

The steamer Austria, however, which arrived here today, reports having signied a drifting ship's boat between Cape Falcon and the Habbas inlands off the Algierian coast, on February 27, on which was painted the name "Condor London." In the boat were five bodies, one of which slid into the sea as the steamer approached. The boat was half swamped and bore a tattered sail. The state of the bodies indicated that the men had been dead at least ten days.
